OVER FOUR BELOW ZERO.

The Lowest Temperature Reached by Thermometer Yesterday.

At 6 o'clock yesterday morning the thermometer registered four and a fraction degrees below zero. The sun appeared and did what the gas could not—warm things up a bit. It grew warmer during the day. The figures show it. Last evening at 7 o'clock it was only eight degrees above zero. Nevertheless people went about complaining of the cold, the frost continued to gather on window panes, and vehicles crackled and creaked over the snow and ice. There was not any observable condition with indicated that the cold snap had gone.

During yesterday afternoon the clouds began to gather and obscure the sun. The wind changed from the northwest to the southwest, but there was no sudden rise in temperature. Early in the evening a frosty snow began to fall, continuing through the night. At midnight the original snow, which had become soiled, wore a clean coating, while sidewalks and streets which had been cleaned were covered with a fine snow. The snow came as if there might be more of it which would mean misery, if persisted by a rise of a few degrees in temperature.

Right at this time when so many families are shivering for a scarcity of gas, it is cheerful to note that one of the gas companies is contemplating the adoption of a new meter, which cannot be bored out. The company is experimenting at present with "non-boreable" meters. The gas yesterday was very weak in pressure. The suburbs are out in the cold, except that the portion of the city which had laid in a supply of other fuel. The Indianapolis company says that few complaints were received at the office during the day. The Consumers' Trust gave no information concerning pressure or complaints.

The Federal Building was like a cold storage house yesterday. Judge Baker attempted to hold court, but gave up in despair. The judge warmed his fingers over the illuminating gas and then penned the following telegram to the Attorney-General: "Court room and judge's chambers are too cold to occupy without danger to life and health. Unless the rooms can be made comfortable I shall abandon the attempt to hold court."

Governor Makes an Appointment.
Governor Matthews yesterday appointed T. C. Grooms, of Greencastle, trustee of the Institute for the Deaf and Dumb. Mr. Grooms will succeed Thomas L. Brown, who was appointed from Lawrence county, but has since moved to this city. The change was made because there is already one resident trustee.

Its Capital Stock Increased.
The Mullen-Blackledge Company has increased its capital stock to $25,000. R. S. Hatcher filed articles of association for the Tippecanoe Historical Society, which will endeavor to secure historical relics of the State and will encourage researches into the past of the State.

DR. J. N. NAVIN DEAD

HE WAS THE PIONEER VETERINARY SURGEON IN INDIANA.

An Authority on Diseases Common to Live Stock—Demise of William Kothe, Sr.

Dr. John Nicholson Navin, perhaps the pioneer veterinary surgeon of the State, died at his home, 76 North Senate avenue, yesterday afternoon. Two weeks ago he had a stroke of apoplexy and this brought about his death. He had lived for almost twenty years in the house in which he died. Dr. Navin was born July 10, 1810, near Sligo, Ireland, and after graduating at a London Medical College came to this country in 1851, settling in New York. In 1854 he moved to Indiana, locating in Indianapolis ten years later.

He had been a veterinary surgeon all his life and was considered an authority on diseases common to live stock. A book he published, "The Explanatory Stock Doctor," is a standard work in that line. Dr. Navin was a member of St. Paul's congregation and a man highly regarded by those who knew him. He leaves six children, John N., Jr., Robert M., Arthur J., Alfred G., Jennie K. and Fannie M.

A telegram received by Dr. Navin's family yesterday afternoon announced the death in Colorado, of Mrs. Navin's sister-in-law about the same hour Dr. Navin died.

DEATH OF WILLIAM KOthe, SR.

An Old Citizen Prominently Identified in German Affairs.

William Kothe, sr., a well-known German resident of this city, died early yesterday morning at the home of his son, William Kothe, No. 495 East Market street. Dropsy, as the result of heart disease, is given as the cause of death. Mr. Kothe was born in Melsungen, Germany, in 1822, and, consequently, was seventy-four years of age. He landed at Baltimore in 1849 as an emigrant. He returned to Germany, where he married Christina Meyer, with whom he returned to America, arriving at Indianapolis in 1854. Mr. Kothe's home has been here ever since that time. Since the death of his wife, five years ago, he has made his home with his son.

Mr. Kothe for many years was employed by the C. F. Schmidt Brewing Company, and upon the death of Mrs. Smith, he became the administrator of the estate. He was a charter member of the Indianapolis Maennerchor and the German-English School Association. He was president of the Industrial School, which afterward became the Industrial Training School. Mr. Kothe commenced life with his own resources as capital, and he saved considerable. He has four sons, George, William and Gustave, of the firm of Kothe, Wells & Bauer, and Henry Kothe, treasurer of the Harrison Trust Company. The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

A TIPPECANOE CLUB MEMBER.

Henry Shearer, Who Came to This County in 1826, Dead.

By the death of Henry Shearer, of No. 65 Columbia avenue, the Tippecanoe Club loses a member and Indianapolis one of her oldest residents. Mr. Shearer was born in Hamilton county, Ohio, in 1814, and came to Marion county in 1826. He was married to Eliza Child in 1833. She is still living at the age of eighty-one years. Twelve children were born to them, five of whom are living. There are forty-three grandchildren and twenty great-grandchildren, a majority of whom live in this city. Mr. Shearer was a man of wonderful constitution, and within a few weeks of his death he was able to perform work which would have tired many much younger men. He was a member of the Tippecanoe Club, and his funeral services will be held to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock by Rev. Amos Harrison. The funeral will be held at the residence of Mr. Shearer, seven miles east of Indianapolis.

Death of John W. Gilbert.

John W. Gilbert, a thirty-second degree Mason, died at his home, No. 112 North Meridian street, early yesterday morning. Mr. Gilbert was born in England sixty-four years ago. He moved from there with his parents to Ohio. Later he has been engaged in the real-estate business, but for several years he was with the Smith & Nixon Piano Company. He spent thirty years in this business, connected with different firms. He leaves five children, among them, Mrs. Cora Faulkner, of this city.

INDIANA COFFEE CO.'S AFFAIRS.

State Grocers May Buy Stock—Capacity to Be Doubled.

The Indiana Coffee Company, a corporation in which a number of well-known wholesale grocers were interested, was one of the firms burned out at the time of the fire at the Indiana Coffee Company. The company was located in the rear of the Schnull building and was entirely destroyed. The company's stock being almost an entire loss. The expensive machinery, including dryers, separators and mills, was a complete loss. At the time of the fire the firm carried a stock valued at $44,000. No business has been done since the fire. The matter of insurance adjustment was closed up the last week and an agreement reached as to the value of salvage. A. M. McCleary, secretary and manager, yesterday said the company's net loss, over and above the salvage and insurance, would amount to about $5,000. McCleary, secretary and manager, yesterday said the company's net loss, over and above the salvage and insurance, would amount to about $5,000. Now that losses amount to a number of well-known wholesale grocers were interested, was one of the firms burned out at the time of the fire at the Indiana Coffee Company. The company was located in the rear of the Schnull building and was entirely destroyed. The company's stock being almost an entire loss.
